THE CARDS ARRIVE

The Cards arrived in '55 through activities of groups and of individuals. The band, shown here taking first place in the State Fair Day contest, played often for Central and for Oklahoma City. The Student Council this year sponsored elections based on the national voting plan. Pictured here are "registered" voters practicing to be full-fledged citizens.

Not shown here, but bringing distinction to Central by their activities, were United States Senator Mike Monroney, member of a state championship football team when he attended Central; United States Congressman John Jarman, national speech winner when he was a student here; Dr. William Spencer, chosen by the National Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of America's ten outstanding young men in 1954; Mrs. Margaret Redding Latrobe, whose syndicated column appears in twenty-seven newspapers; Mrs. Mildred Nichols Schroeder, who is now touring Europe as one of six holders of national Reid scholarships in journalism; and Ronnie Hill, holder of a Rotary International scholarship, who is now studying at Edinburgh University, preparing to become an agricultural missionary. These former Centralites have brought much favorable publicity to their Alma Mater.

IN '55

The Central choir made many appearances both in school and before civic groups. The activity shown here, singing Christmas carols in front of the school, attracted many passers-by as listeners.

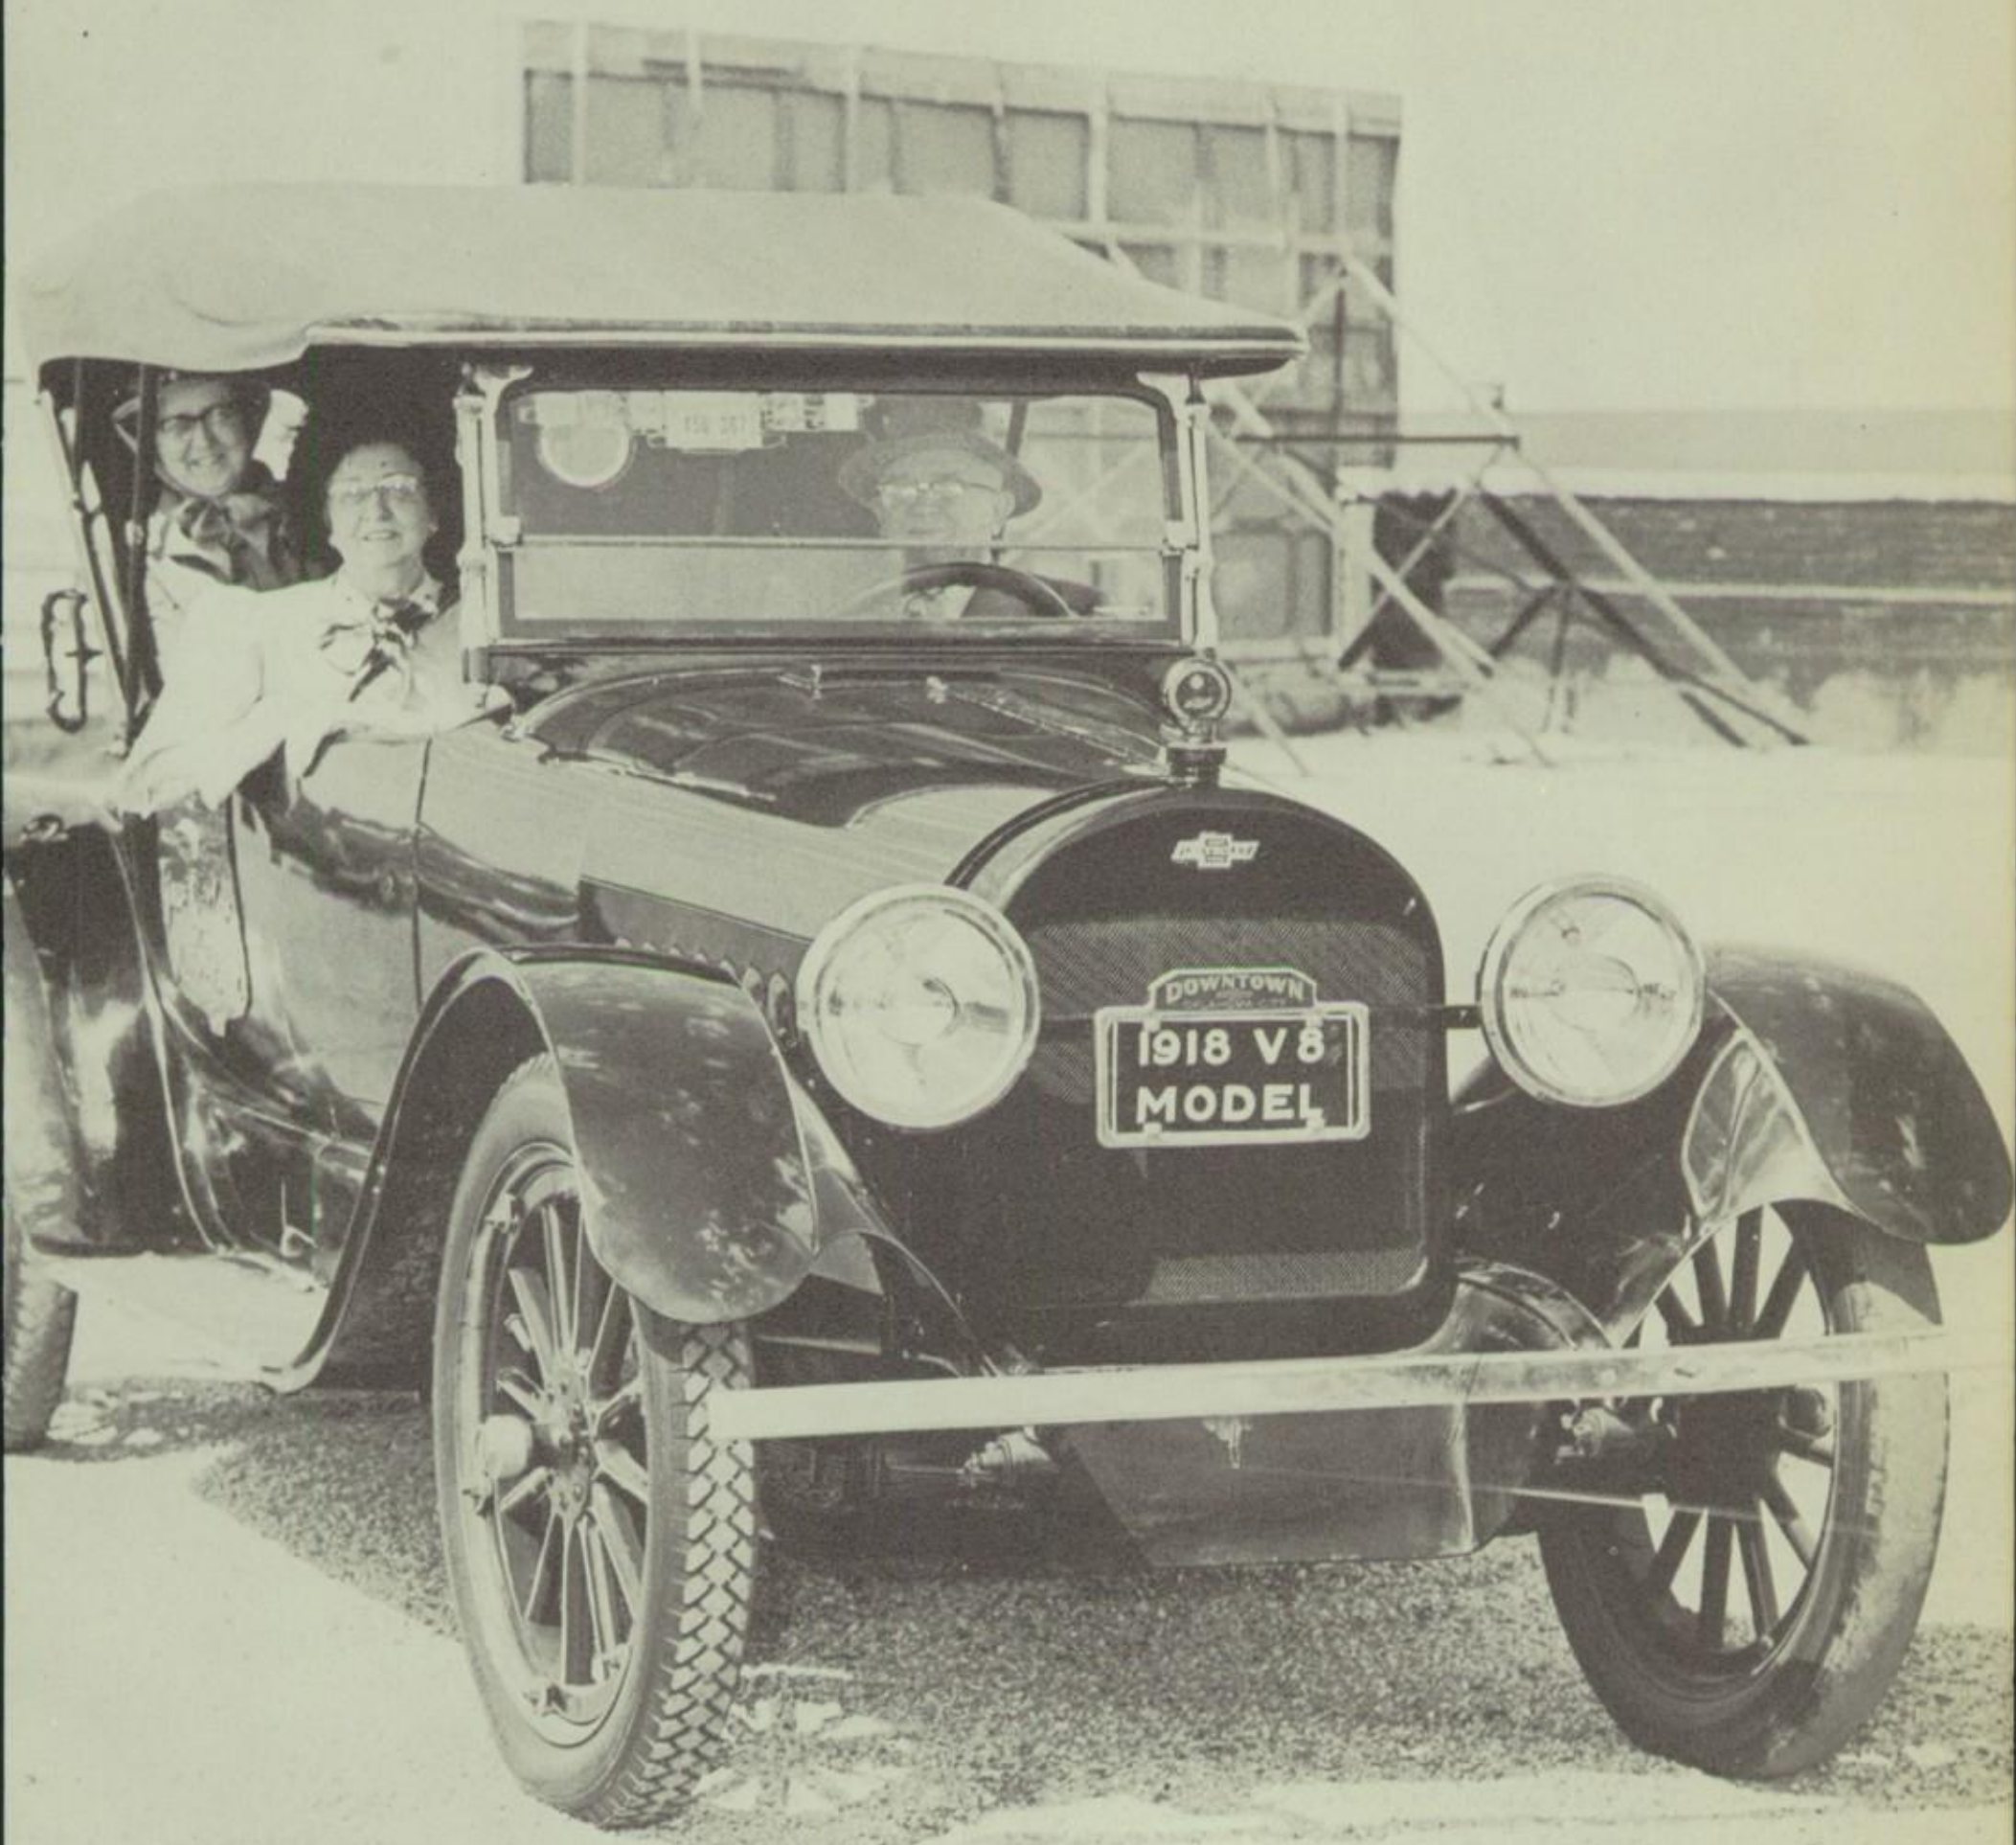

The Cards arrived this year with the able assistance of such teachers as Mrs. Gladys Been, who in 1954 acquired her second Master's degree; Mr. Lewis Eubanks, who in 1954 was named Oklahoma's Coach of the Year; and Miss Maybelle Conger, only teacher in the country to have two students in the finals of the national speech contests in 1954.

The Cards arrived in 1955 also because of the individual efforts of many students. Wayne Hensley, Student Council president, was also a Junior Rotarian, governor of Boys' State in 1954, one of Oklahoma's two representatives to Boys' Nation the same year, state speech winner, and national speech finalist. Nadine Holyfield, only a junior this year, has already made a name for herself in Oklahoma City music circles, and is a state winner in flute contests. Johnny Pennington has three times been chosen to occupy the position of first chair in the trombone section of the state high school massed concert band.

*Hail, Alma Mater! Hats off to you;
Ever you'll find us loyal and true;
Firm and undaunted ever we'll be;
Hail to the school we love; here's a toast to thee!*

"Central High School again presents a review of a successful year. Central has always been able to present with pride its faculty, its students, and its activities. Through the years many students have contributed much to give your school its enviable record. Remember your success in college or in life will largely determine the future reputation of Central."

DR. J. CHESTER SWANSON

"An old Indian proverb says, 'An arrow warped in the making will never go straight in its flight.' Your three years at Central have given you numerous experiences to develop your mind, body, and character. I trust that each graduate has taken advantage of the many opportunities offered here. Accept my heartiest congratulations and best wishes for your continued success and happiness."

COUNSELLORS

MISS MAURINE HOOVER
B.A., M.A.

The Counsellors have a big job. They enroll students, give personal guidance, help students with financial, school, job, and home problems, supervise the testing programs, keep account of all the students' credits, are in charge of the clinics, provide vocational guidance, aid in job placement, and do a hundred other valuable services. They are, in general, one of the biggest assets a student can have around Central.

CENTRAL FACULTY

*In nineteen hundred and fifty-five
The Central Cardinals were alive;
We had a dandy teaching staff
Who taught us well and yet could laugh.*

*Academic, vocational, or business ed,—
These courses through the years they led.
They sponsored all our organizations
And helped to increase friendly relations.*

*As for our counselors, they were dears;
They helped in choosing our careers;
Along with guidance they gave us a smile
To make our years at Central worthwhile.*

*The Cardinal as our symbol here
They've kept alive throughout the year;
Our feeling for them will never die,
For they have helped the Cards to fly.*

Central High School is proud of its modern cafeteria, which is the training ground for workers all over the city. Our cafeteria staff this year was under the management of Mrs. Ester Jentry first semester and Mrs. Alcy Goldsmith second semester. These women planned and prepared nutritious meals which were served in both the students' and teachers' lunch rooms. The students and faculty members wish to thank these people for their fine service and friendly attitudes.

Among the hardest working groups at Central are the custodians. These men keep our halls, rooms, and grounds clean, and lend a helping hand when needed. In the summer, custodians from other city schools attend a training school at Central. Carl Permenter was chosen the friendliest custodian at Central last year during friendship week. Mr. Grover Jenks has been head custodian at Central for the last twelve years.

Mike Benson and Marilyn Kopacka find sitting on the floor an appropriate position for autographing the Cardinal.

Myra Reed salutes the football queen at the coronation assembly.

John Rigler extends the congratulations of the football team to their queen, Mary Chaney.

Sid Blott and Dick Wilkinson bid farewell to Central's football practice field.

Martha Bristow and Bill Stone make a hit in the Musical Playlets' presentation of "Showboat".

SENIOR PLAY

Dorsey Douglas and Donna Eastwood offer their "daughter", Myra Reed, a little coaching on broken-field running.

Kay Coleman and Lynne Scott are disgusted with the tomboy antics of their classmate, Myra Reed.

"Time Out for Ginger" is a happy occasion. It is the kind of comedy that brings a warmhearted glow to the audience. A prosperous and proper small town banker, Mr. Carol, has a weakness for giving public speeches. In a talk before the high school students, he says, "Nobody should have to do what he doesn't want to." Therefore, when his teenage tomboy daughter Ginger desires to try out for the football team, Mr. Carol must back her up. Ginger's picture adorns the cover of LIFE magazine; the town receives undesired publicity, and the bank directors wonder about the propriety of having Mr. Carol represent their conservative New England bank. The results are hilarious.

JUNIOR CLASS

*To Central five hundred ten came we
And cried, "O halls, make room for me!"*

*We invaded sports and the science fair;
In all school events we did our share*

In state music contests our students shone,

Won honors in singing and flute and trombone.

*Drama we met with the junior play
And decided on one that was quite okay.*

*The name of our effort was
"Follow the Dream";*

It turned out better than peaches and cream.

Curtis Schwartz, president, second semester; Miss Doris Taylor, chairman of junior sponsors; Robert Rickey, president, first semester.

Mr. Paul Ringler, sponsor; Gail Turner, secretary, first semester; Miss Helen Allison, sponsor; Vickie Goodgion, yell leader, first semester; secretary, treasurer, second semester.

Ellen Albert typifies the Central students who are assigned regularly to assist in the office. The switchboard is only one of the many duties they handle efficiently.

*To honor society some found their way
By studying hard in class each day.
Money we sought with all our might
To give the seniors a wonderful night.
Twelve-hundred-year-calendars
we sold,
And peddled bracelets as bright as gold.
Our many experiences we did share;
We'll treasure our memories with greatest care.
As the end of our junior term
draws near,
We're looking forward to our senior year.*

Robert Rickey, Exchange Club's Boy of the Month for February, 1955, represents the well-rounded type of student who takes part in activities of all sorts, and stands high in scholarship as well as in athletics and in organizations.

JUNIOR PLAY

"Follow the Dream"
 Was the theme
 Of this year's junior play.
 The girl was from Peru;
 One boy was too;
 The other from the U. S. A.
 The play was fun;
 The acting, well done;
 It passed on every test.
 In every way
 It turned out OK;
 Our director was the best.

Big wheels get rolling: Miss Jo Alice Hendricks, chairman of sponsors, and Judy Mitchell, president of the Class of '57, plan the year's activities.

Teachers take tots' troubles to trial: Miss Rae Miller, Mr. Byron Roberts, and Miss Ruth Snell, sponsors, discuss class problems.

Bellows from fellows: The Sophomore Trio, Jimmy Reese, Joe Apostol (also vice-president of the class), and Alan Crockett, sing for an assembly.

The Class of '57 has "arrived" as sophomores;

As pre-initiates of clubs, they did a lot of chores.

They studied, got acquainted, and attended many games;

They followed Card traditions, and they learned the teachers' names.

This class worked with the juniors on a quite important thing—

The choosing, for all future time, of Central's senior ring.

Famous last words: "Short burr, please!" Don Birmingham and Ed Stubblefield demonstrate the ability of sophomores to succeed in the trades classes.

The sophomores cheered as Bennie was a starter on the team;

Two sophomores twirled for Central's band, and they were on the beam!

They took part in assemblies, in the Follies, and in clubs;

*If they couldn't make the first teams,
they supplied a lot of subs!*

*Their teachers liked their attitudes,
and prophesied success;*

To the class of '57, here's a wish for happiness!

"One Nation, under God"—Hulane Evans, Jackie Scanlin, and Miss Lucile Taylor show a familiar home room activity—saluting our country's flag.

Prophesying promising performances for the Class of '57: Miss Mary Neel, sponsor; Dixie Crum, secretary; Miss Ruth Wallace, sponsor, and Jim Chastain, student council representative.

Central cutie cuts capers: Jerry Hammond performs at Fun Night.

Rousing rooters raise roof: Sheila Bruce and Dixie Crum, band twirlers, cheer for Pennie Morgan, starter on the Cards' basketball team.

Classen took this heart-breaker despite Central's best efforts of the year. The score was 28-24, but the crowd had a real thriller before the final buzzer sounded. Here Classen's Larry Meyer gets the jump on Dennis de Freese and Jim Blake.

Central, jinxed by fumbles, dropped the initial tilt of the '54-'55 season to the Blackwell Maroons, 27 to 7. Blackwell pushed across three unearned TD's set up by three Cardinal fumbles in the first quarter. The Cards then held the Maroons until late in the third quarter, when they allowed Blackwell to complete a 30-yard pass. Central's only score came in the fourth quarter on a double reverse to Willis Warden.

Warden scored three touchdowns to lead the Cardinals to their only victory of the '54-'55 season, over the Northeast Vikings. Central's Redbirds took the opening kickoff and were driving toward Viking territory when they fumbled. Later Northeast capitalized on this mistake and scored first. The fighting Cards came from behind on a 71-yard drive sparked by two of Terry Hoipkemier's passes to conquer the hard luck Northeast crew.

The John Marshall Bears squeaked by the Central Cardinals in a close battle fought at Taft Stadium before 2,000 fans. The score was 0 to 0 through the third quarter, but in the last stanza the Bears took advantage of three Cardinal errors to score three tallies. On yardage gained and first downs this game was tighter than the score showed, and the Cards were fighting all the way.

The Norman Tigers came back late in the fourth quarter to tie Central in a hard-fought "mudder" at Taft Stadium. The score was 12 to 12 at half-time, but the Cards jumped to a 19 to 12 lead early in the third period. Here the Cards' defense faltered, and the Tigers kept grinding out yards.

Enid outran Central 26 to 7 in an offensive battle on Enid's home field. The Plainsmen came back in the second half to score three more touchdowns, two in the third period and one in the fourth period. The Cards' lone score came late in the fourth quarter.

Central lost the big game of the season to Classen before 4,400 fans at Taft Stadium. The score was 13-0 at halftime, but the Cards' defense fell through in the second half and let Classen score 28 points. The Central team never stopped fighting because the Cards wanted to win this game more than any other game this year. Central was in scoring position twice, but the downs ran out, and the ball went over to the Comets.

An outmanned Central squad absorbed a 51 to 0 drubbing at the hands of the Capitol Hill Redskins on Central's home field. The fighting Cardinals, although never in the game, refused to quit trying. Capitol Hill's powerhouse dominated the entire game and turned duties over to their reserves late in the fourth quarter.

The Shawnee Wolves edged Central 13 to 7 in a Mid-State battle fought on Shawnee's home field. The score was knotted 7 to 7 at half-time, but the Wolves came back to score the clincher early in the third period aided by two fifteen-yard penalties against Central. Larry Wilder's reception of a 40-yard pass thrown by Robert Taylor was the most spectacular play of the game.

The Cards dropped a 27 to 14 decision to St. Gregory's Knights in the season's finale at Taft Stadium.

Coach Byron Roberts started his initial basketball season at Central with only three returning lettermen. The Cardinals, though shorter than most of their opponents, fought enthusiastically throughout the season.

Regulars on this year's team were seniors Jim Blake and Gary Dobson, juniors Reece Burch and Robert Rickey, and sophomore Benny Morgan. Bench support was handled by Willis Warden, Darrell Reese, Dennis de Freese, Jerry Price, Caston Christian, Bill Hollenbeck, and Tony Workman. Much credit is due Coach Roberts as he worked strenuously keeping the boys in shape and teaching them new tactics.

Central played its most outstanding game against Classen. This one, played on the OHS maples, was a see-saw battle through to the last buzzer, but the Cards went down to a heart-breaking defeat, losing 28-24. Another spine-tingling game was with John Marshall; the Cards were out in front one point when the final buzzer sounded, but as the horn went off, a foul was called against Central, and Marshall made both free shots, thus downing the Redbirds 60-59.

The 1954-'55 season is one to be remembered, even though the team did not break into the win column very often. Small but enthusiastically loyal crowds lent pep support from the stands, both at home and at games away, and pushed the Cards through a hard luck season with much hope for next year.

*Finals of State Tournament

Here's Lewis Eubanks, Oklahoma's "Coach of the Year" and coach of the '54 Cards, who were runners-up to the state champs, winners of the O. U. state tournament, and holders of a season record of 19 wins and only four losses!

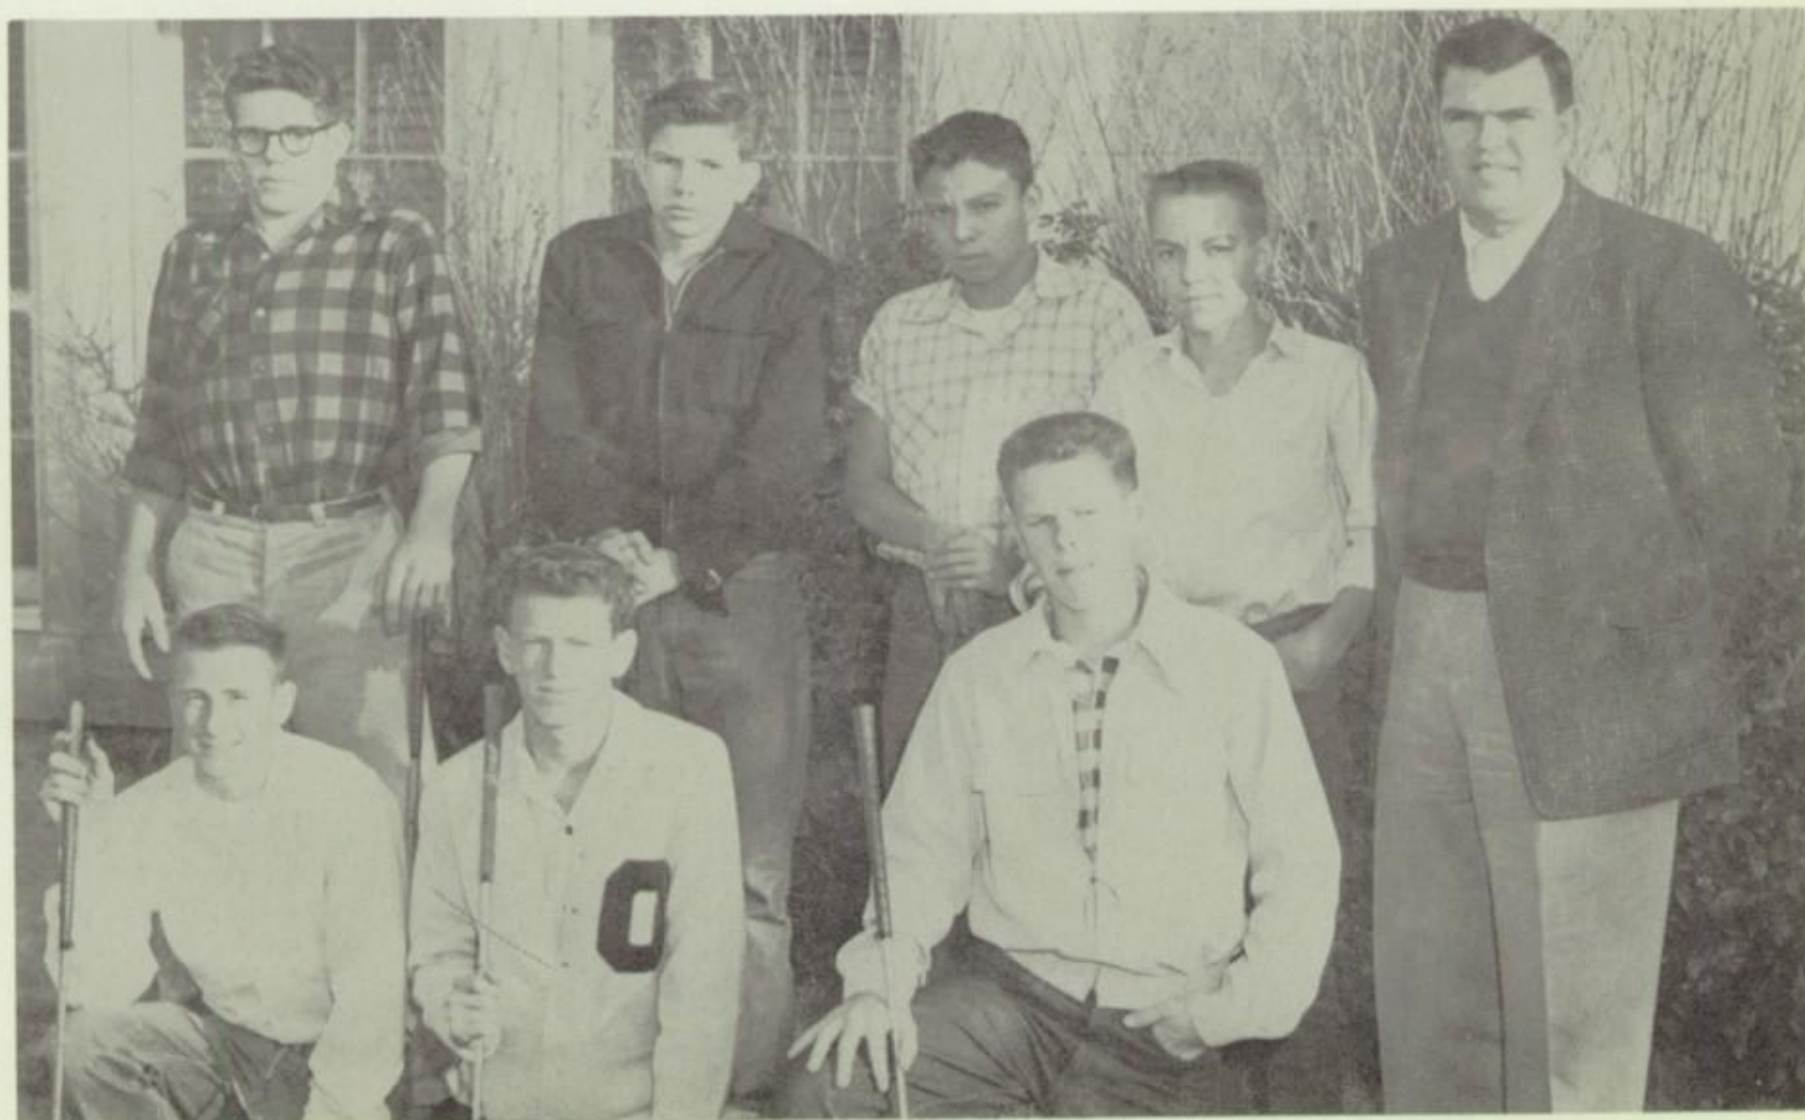

The Central ballers also won many individual honors. Bob Warner and Jim Hammond made All-State. Jim Jones, Gerald McPhail, Willis Warden, Jim Hammond, and Bob Warner walked off with All-City honors. Bob Warner led the team in batting with a .479 mark, with Jim Hammond, Willis Warden and Jim Jones following close behind.

The 1954 baseball team is one which can be proudly remembered.

Coach Eubanks and all Centralites are looking forward to the 1955 season with Willis Warden, Robert Rickey, Tony Murphy, Jim Blake, Caston Christian, Jerry Graves, and Mike Brumley, returning lettermen, as top prospects.

Back Row: Joe Canady, Lewis Tidmore, Doy Ott, James Chestnut, Mr. Jerry Potter, coach. First Row: Felix Watson, Glen Jones, Kenneth Jones. This group represents Central's golf team for the season of '55. These boys are out for golf. At the beginning of the season, Central took a match 11-1, from Midwest City. Results of later matches are not known as the book goes to press.

Basketball

There's hardly another club that stays as busy as the girls' sports class. They go from one sport right into another one. These sports are softball, basketball, volleyball, table tennis, and badminton. The girls play against the other city high schools. They always represent Central very well; the school can be proud of their good sportsmanship. Coached by Miss Berniece Wester, they do their best to bring recognition not only to themselves, but to Central also, as Jane Ellingson did last year when she won the city tennis championship.

The Student Council is a body of students representing every club, organization, and home room in the school. These students meet as a daily class to discuss and to try to solve the many problems of the school.

Under the capable sponsorship of Miss Berniece Wester and Mr. Jim Johnson, the council had a talent show, sent delegates to the State, Regional, and National Student Council meetings, organized the school elections on the basis of the national elections, sponsored a Big Brother-Big Sister program, and derived revenue from the jukebox in the cafeteria.

The day-to-day work of the Council seemed of little significance to the members, but at the end of the year when they looked back upon their work, they realized that all the little things put together amounted to a great deal in helping to run our great high school.

The final event of the year for the council was the annual spring picnic honoring the seniors.

The Black Shirts were really alive this year

With plenty of pep and plenty of cheer.

The members numbered one hundred and three,

And each meeting was planned so cleverly.

Inlow at first the gavel wielded,

And reluctantly to Hidlebaugh he yielded.

First semester's sweetheart was not in comparison,

The cute, adorable, Lillian Harrison.

Second semester's sweetheart, Miss Jones-Helen-

Was the greatest at leadin' pep club yellin'.

Their sponsor was Mr. H. E. Hicks

Who was loads of fun and just full of tricks.

They gave four dances, and hay rack rides,

Rush parties, and a wiener roast besides.

Through the school year they brought smiles and good will;

The purpose of their club they always fulfill.

Musical organizations play a vital part at Central. The Cardinal Follies, (held after the '55 yearbook went to press, and too late to be pictured in the book), an ambitious undertaking, was presented by the combined efforts of the musical organizations. Another joint effort was the sale of Christmas trees; still another was the pancake supper served before the Northeast basketball game.

This year the eighty-piece band marched in civic parades, played for football and basketball games, and gave two concerts. Mr. Leonard Haug, director of the O. U. band, presented the sweaters to seniors who had earned sufficient points. The band took first at the State Fair Day contest, first at the Midwest City contest, and second at the O. U. Band Day contest. The band, organized in 1910, has won many trophies for Central.

The choir sang in several assemblies and performed before civic groups. The members stood at the front door of the school and sang carols during the week preceding Christmas vacation, for passers-by on their way to work. The traditional carolling in the halls one day before the holidays was enjoyed by all Centralites. Mr. Lara Hoggard, nationally known conductor, directed a city-wide chorus in which the choir took part. Six choir members also attended the vocal music clinic at O. U. Twenty members attended the choir festival at A. and M.

The Drum and Bugle Corps practiced all summer, with the band, and made an impressive appearance at their first fall showing, the All-State football game. The girls marched in parades, performed in half-time exhibitions at football and basketball games, and were guests at the State Band contest held in Midwest City, where they put on an exhibition. Virginia Doherty, candidate for Fun Night Queen, was elected when the corps outsold the other musical organizations in ticket sales. The girls broke all existing Central records in sales of magazine subscriptions. Proceeds helped to buy new hats and plumes, which were proudly worn for the first time at the last home basketball game. The corps had drive in '55!

The Drill Team did the best work in their history during the 1954-'55 season. Their formations were more intricate, and were performed with greater precision. Summer practice and hours of drill paid off in a very fine showing at each public performance. The uniform jackets, an innovation in 1955, were first displayed in March. Youngest of the instrumental music organizations at Central, the Drill Team members were alive in '55!

*In a band of eighty people
There is always much to do
There are errands, chores, and routines,
And some money's needed too.*

*On the bus trips out of town
Details are many, there's no doubt;
So the Band Boys here at Central
Formed a group to work things out.*

*They sold the trees at Christmas
That brought money to the till;
New instruments were needed,
And this helped to pay the bill.*

*With these and other tedious jobs
The group was active here;
There were also entertainments
With the girls' club this last year.*

BAND GIRLS

*Not very many years ago
The girls in Central's band
Decided the director
Ought to have a helping hand.*

*The club became quite active
In the work that must be done;
They've all grown well-acquainted,
And they've also had some fun.*

*They helped in serving pancakes;
They sold some magazines;
They went all-out for Central
By several different means.*

*An attitude of friendliness
Has made this group "arrive";
The Band Girls were a great help
To the school in '55.*

The Ciceronian Debating Society had a full calendar of activities this year. In addition to the regular meetings, there was a hamburger fry at the home of the sponsor, "Coach" Van Meter. This event was held in the back yard, by a huge open fire. The second entertainment of the year was the annual stag banquet, held in a local restaurant. This affair always attracts former members; alumni like to keep in touch with Central and with the Cices.

Ciceronians, organized in 1911, is one of the oldest clubs, having been continuously active since the present building was constructed. The purpose of the club is to promote speech activities and to develop friendship and leadership. Friendly (?) contests are held between Cices and Jeffs; these debates and forensic meets are part of the tradition that makes Central what it is.

Wade Walker, Jack Hall, and Mr. M. V. Van Meter plan a little strategy regarding the traditional rivalry between Cices and Jeffs.

Dear Jeffs:

I just thought I'd drop a few lines to find out how you're getting along this year. I know you're continuing to uphold the traditions of the Jeffs. The club has meant a lot to me. I'm sure it does to you.

How is Miss Chowning? If there is any one person responsible for the success of the Jeffs as a debating society and for the fine record of service to Central, it is most certainly she. Miss Chowning is one of the most conscientious club sponsors I have ever known. She would never allow us to deviate from any of the fine ideals of the society, and would keep our minds fixed on the important business at hand.

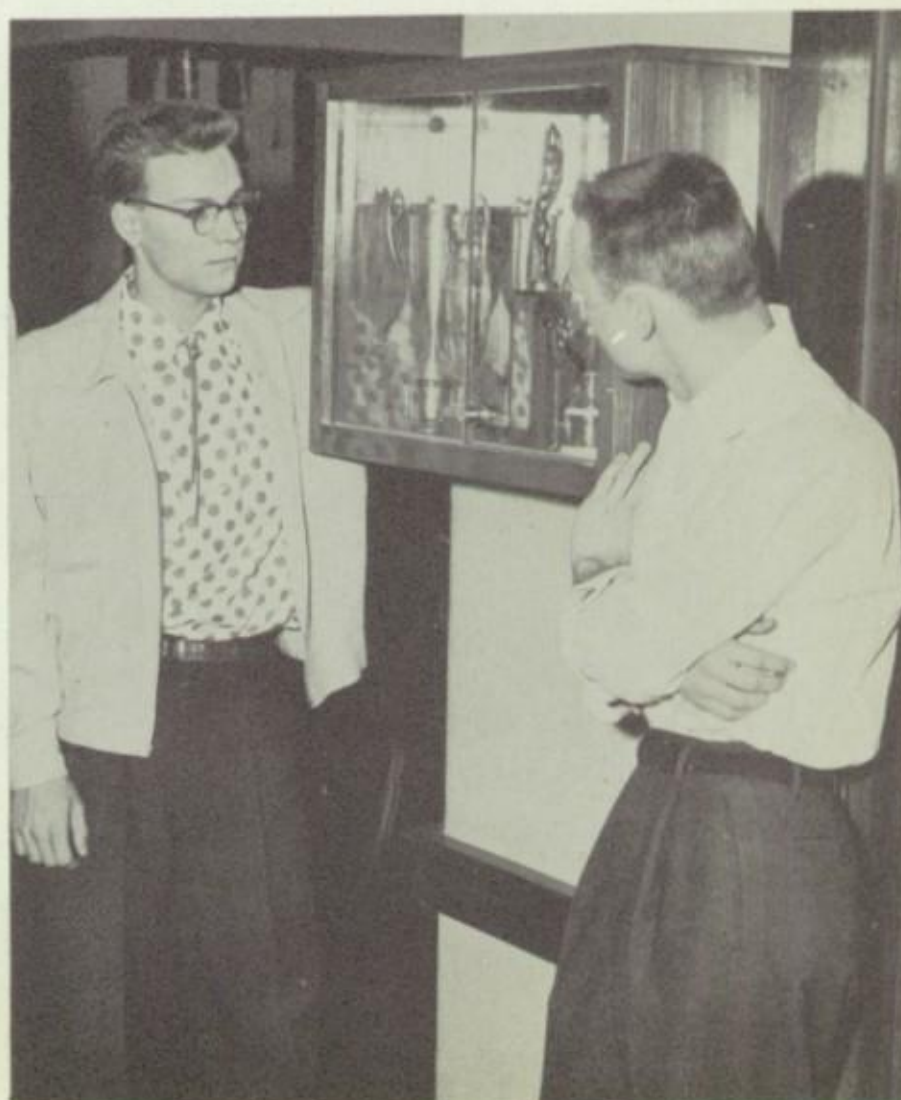

Are you boys still close friends? I believe that the best friend you can have is a Jeff. The membership has always included school leaders who are intelligent, dependable, and industrious.

Let me know how you get along in the Jeff-Cice debate.

Sincerely, Robert Bell, '54

P.S. Heard you're sponsoring a new debate club for girls. Good going!

Monroe Harden and Wayne Hensley view with pride the trophy case which is the repository for many awards and honors won by the club.

The Thespian Chapter of Central, organized in 1947, is a club for students who have done work in speech activities or stagecraft. Its main purpose is to promote interest in dramatic arts.

Two formal initiations are held each year, with dances following the initiation ceremonies. Planned meetings are held once a month consisting of entertainment as well as business. Thespians are especially proud of their sponsor, Miss Maybelle Conger, who this year was re-elected Regional Director of this area.

Honorary members are Mr. F. R. Born, Mrs. Anita Kramer, Robert Clark, Mr. V. Van Meter, Miss Martha Truax, Mrs. Vern Patterson, Tom Paxton, and Miss Doris Taylor.

Masquers, an honorary speech club for boys, was founded in 1938 and is sponsored by Miss Maybelle Conger.

Its chief purpose is to further and develop interest in speech.

The members are chosen twice a year and are announced each spring at the annual Masquers assembly.

This year for the first time since the club was founded the boys chose a sweetheart. Also, instead of the traditionally all-male assembly, a play was given by Masquers and the sister organization, Golden Key.

Richard Sells, Stephen Carleton, and J. D. Hodges talk over the annual Masquer assembly.

The National Forensic League of Central is one of the leading speech organizations. To obtain membership, one must earn twenty points which are accumulated in various tournaments; higher degrees may be given as the points mount. The highest degree than can be earned, the Degree of Distinction, requires the accumulation of 200 points.

Golden Key is an honorary dramatic club for girls. The new members, announced each spring at the annual awards assembly, are chosen by a faculty committee for their outstanding work and speech ability. Since its organization in '32, the club has been inactive, but following the policy of "The Cards Arrive in '55," the group held a joint banquet with the Masquers.

The purpose of Les Beaux Arts is to promote the appreciation of art among Central students.

Membership is based on interest in art, and any Central student is eligible. After prospective members have spent six weeks in getting acquainted with the club program, they are formally initiated.

As many phases of art as possible are included in the annual assembly which is the main project of the club. Members design and make the scenery, write the script, and provide all the entertainment. This year's assembly, entitled "Fantasy", which depicted a child's dreams, was presented in January.

Truly arriving in '55, the Central High Science Club is the youngest club in school, having been organized in February, 1955. Its membership immediately rose to thirty-two enthusiastic people, validly interested in science, and realizing the advantages of a group effort and the enjoyment of learning together. Supporting the Oklahoma Science Fair, helping to supply a planetarium for the young people of this area, and becoming affiliated with the National Science Club of America and the Future Scientists of America are only a few of the projects which seem to offer a bright and prosperous future for the group.

This was one of the most active Y-Teen groups in Central's history. Forty members devoted their lives to giving services for others, to helping the needy, and to working in a closer bond with the different nationalities of the world. Y-Teen chapters are all over the world and have what is commonly called a "round the world" movement.

The ceremony of the Hanging of the Greens at Christmas, the camping and hiking trips throughout the year, and the holding of regular meetings were activities enjoyed by the members.

Y-Teens, a branch of the Y.W.C.A., were sponsored the first semester by Mrs. Vivien Smith and the second semester by Miss Mary Ellen Volk.

The Hi-Y club is an international organization which any boy may join. The purpose is to create, maintain, and extend, throughout the home, the school, and the community, high standards of Christian character. The Youth and Government Legislature in January is a high light of the year. One of the functions of the Hi-Y is that a boy may obtain a membership card and participate in the many activities, such as swimming, handball, gymnastics, and other light sports carried on at the Y.M.C.A., one of the finest buildings of its kind in the country.

Gale Turner was city-wide president of the Senior High Youth Council of Hi-Y this year. Coach Van Meter is the sponsor of the club and oversees all of its activities.

Central's National Honor Society was founded in 1922, and is the oldest chapter in the state. To obtain membership in this club one must have a B average if a senior and an A minus average if a junior. Members are chosen by a faculty committee for character, scholarship, leadership, and service to the school.

This year's group did much for Central in many ways; one was selling school supplies. Members were thus providing a convenience for Central's students as well as making money for Golden O's and honor roll awards for club members.

The yearly initiation is held in an assembly, after first semester grades have been issued.

Every spring the graduating seniors enjoy a one-day trip to Oklahoma University or Oklahoma A. and M. College as guests of the Central Student Council. The purpose of the trip is to make the students acquainted with what the state's two major colleges have to offer; about twenty-five per cent of Central's graduates go on to college; most of this number attend either O. U. or A. and M.

In Distributive Education there are some very exceptional students who work half a day and attend school half a day. In this class Central students can get practice training through co-operative education. These students are graded by their employers as well as by their teachers. Jobs aren't hard to find for students with D. E. training.

The Diversified Occupational program is made up of high school juniors and seniors who are not planning to go to college. These students work at least one-half a day at their respective jobs. They receive school credits and experience at their chosen trades. These jobs are held with a cooperative agreement between the Oklahoma City business firms and Central High School. Pupils receive grades from employers and from teachers.

They have no time to spend in clowning.
They are all as busy as little bees
Trying hard all Centralites to please.*

*They stack the books upon the shelves
For Central students to help themselves.
They check out books and collect fines;
Complaints and praises ring out like chimes.*

*Using tricks their interest to arouse
They invite students to come in and browse.
Covers from books they put on display;
This, their job, from September till May.*

*The Central chapter of F. T. A.
Knows that one very potent way
To help our country in time of need
Is to teach its children to write and read.*

*The group had speakers who came to tell
Of a serious shortage of personnel;
The boys and girls of America's schools
Need buildings, teachers, books, and tools.*

*The strength of America as a nation
Depends a great deal upon education.
The members of Central's F. T. A.
Will teach our nation's youth some day!*

One of the most useful service organizations at Central is the Projection Class. Teachers wishing to have films shown to their classes take the groups to a specially outfitted audio-visual room where an operator trained by Mr. J. F. Standridge is available at any hour.

All films shown at the school are scheduled through Mr. Standridge. The film library at the Board of Education Building is extensive, and films from the O. U. extension service are also used.

A three-year course in barber trade is offered at Central for boys who do not intend going to college. They study one hour a day as sophomores and three hours a day as seniors. Their services are offered to students and faculty members for a nominal sum.

The course is the equivalent in hours of a barber college course, offered commercially, but the advantage of Central's class is that a student while studying his vocation is also acquiring his high school diploma.

Lawrence Walton, Earl Smith, Doy Ott, Mr. Mark Spencer, Max Short, and Ed Stubblefield comprise the barber trade program at Central. (Not shown: Bob Elliott).

Future Business Leaders of America is a national organization for young men and women who are planning careers in business. Guest speakers at the monthly meetings are successful men and women who give tips and ideas on what the business world expects, tips about how to get jobs and how to keep them.

Among the speakers this year were Mr. R. J. Jones, Manager of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company; and Mr. Fred Fellingham, District Manager at Stanolind Oil and Gas Company; also Hazel Enlow, Secretary for North American Petroleum Company; and Helen Houston, Backstage Manager for Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner, and Beane, spoke jointly on poise and personality development.

Under the supervision of their sponsor, Miss Jo Alice Hendricks, F. B. L. A. held a spring picnic and swimming party at Springlake Amusement Park.

The Trade and Industrial club of Oklahoma has as its objective the following purposes: First, to develop qualities of leadership; Second, to encourage social and recreational activities; Third, to develop qualities of stability and self-confidence; Fourth, to promote scholarship among the members; Fifth, to familiarize the members with a broader view of the world's work; Sixth, to assist one another in securing a better understanding of the common problems; Seventh, to cultivate a friendly and cooperative spirit among the members, teachers, parents, and the employers in the community.

T and I is in its second year at Central. Any student enrolled in a vocational trade class may belong to T and I.

There are fifty-six chapters of T and I in this state. Central's chapter, having 103 members, holds its meetings every other week in the Cardinal Room during the morning trades classes.

An impressive initiation ceremony is held each year. Activities this year have included a picnic in October, a hayrack ride in January, T and I Field Day in Clinton, Oklahoma, a field trip through Tinker Field, and T and I Field trials in April at the State Fair grounds. Also, contests, banquets, exhibits, and a dance have been enjoyed. This club, comparatively new to Central, has made a fine record and well represents a large percentage of the Cards, many of whom are enrolled in trade classes.

"Love makes the world go 'round. Junior Red Cross makes love go 'round the world!" *

"Boys and girls in Junior Red Cross are modern Columbus-es. Their gifts go to far places of the world on voyages of discovery, taking with them messages of goodwill and friendship."*

Central made her contribution to humanity this year too. By signing cards saying that they were willing to give service to their community, to their nation, and to the world, all students became members of Junior Red Cross.

Through this organization, the boys in the trades classes repaired television sets for hospitals, and made a big gift chest out of materials they paid for themselves. The chest, decorated by the commercial art class, was filled with health, educational, and recreational supplies for a classroom in Europe.

Central's chapter also took programs to the V. A. Hospital and to the County Home for the Aged, and went carolling at the Christmas season.

PRINTING TRADE

James Bird is shown working on a handset.

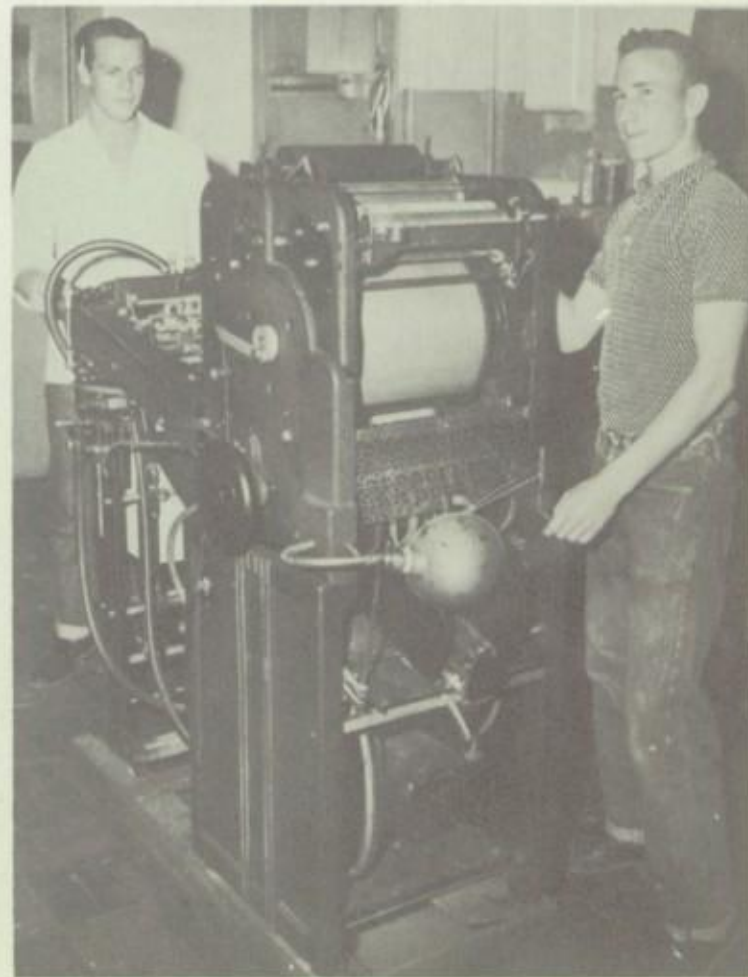

Leroy Long operates a linotype machine.

Our vocational printing program consists of a one-hour class for sophomores, followed by three-hour classes for juniors and seniors. Students come from all areas of the city to learn saleable skills in hand composition, linotype, presswork, and bindery.

Paul Milner and Gail Lincoln are shown at the platen press.

Carl Garrett and Felix Watson operate the offset press.

Pat Letcher, editor-in-chief; Mr. Jim Johnson, sponsor; and George Brown, editor-in-chief, plan layouts.

Robert Coe, Elaine Womack, Larry Wilder, Judy Lobdell, Katherine Scott, Odessa Nugent, and Barbara Craig plan editorials for the next edition.

Lois Russell, Sid Blott, Frances Wheeler, John Fauntleroy, Carolyn Hill, Virgil Yeargain, and Bill Shockey decide what's news at Central.

Tony Murphy, Katie Clevenger, Pat Hanges, Willie Anne Schuneman, Jim Orrell, Donna Hodge, and Tom Collins check on advertising copy and sports accounts.

SOONER SPIRIT

Central's first "Sooner Spirit" was printed in 1921. Since then it has lived up to its name by capturing school life at Central with pictures, editorials, news, and features.

This year the paper has a new sponsor, Mr. Jim Johnson. With the help of the printing and photography classes, the "Sooner Spirit" is published every two weeks and is sold on a subscription basis.

The staff members enjoy a friendly sense of competition and learn skill in writing through practical experience.

Myra Reed, business assistant; Mr. Paul Ringler, sponsor; Arthur Solomon, business assistant; Ronnie Clarke, artist for '55 Cardinal.

The yearbook staff is a combination of four separate groups which meet daily during regular class hours. Miss Doris Taylor heads the editorial staff. Mr. Ralph Miller has charge of the business staff and layouts. Mr. J. D. Winbray and the photography department take all of the pictures for the book except the faculty and class shots. Mr. Paul Ringler directs all of the book's art work and assists with layouts.

The high point of this year's activities was the N. S. P. A. convention held in Minneapolis during August. This meeting was attended by nine staff members, who acquired many new and interesting ideas concerning design and copy, and who enjoyed meeting young people from all over our country. The group also enjoyed a two-day tour by bus of points of interest in Minnesota, including the world's largest open pit iron mine. A special coach on the train took forty students and seven sponsors, from seven high schools in Oklahoma, to this convention.

The staff members also enjoyed several social events, including informal initiation, Thanksgiving dinner, an Easter party, and the annual yearbook-signing party. One of the most beautiful of the year's assemblies is, traditionally, the yearbook assembly, featuring the coronation of the Cardinal Queen, and presenting some of the best talent the school has to offer. At the close of the assembly, students line up to receive the yearbooks on which the staff has spent so many hectic but interesting hours, and so much effort.

MUSICAL PLAYLETS

*The seventh hour of every day
These kids rehearse a musical play;
"Showboat" is their latest fling,
And all those stars can really sing.*

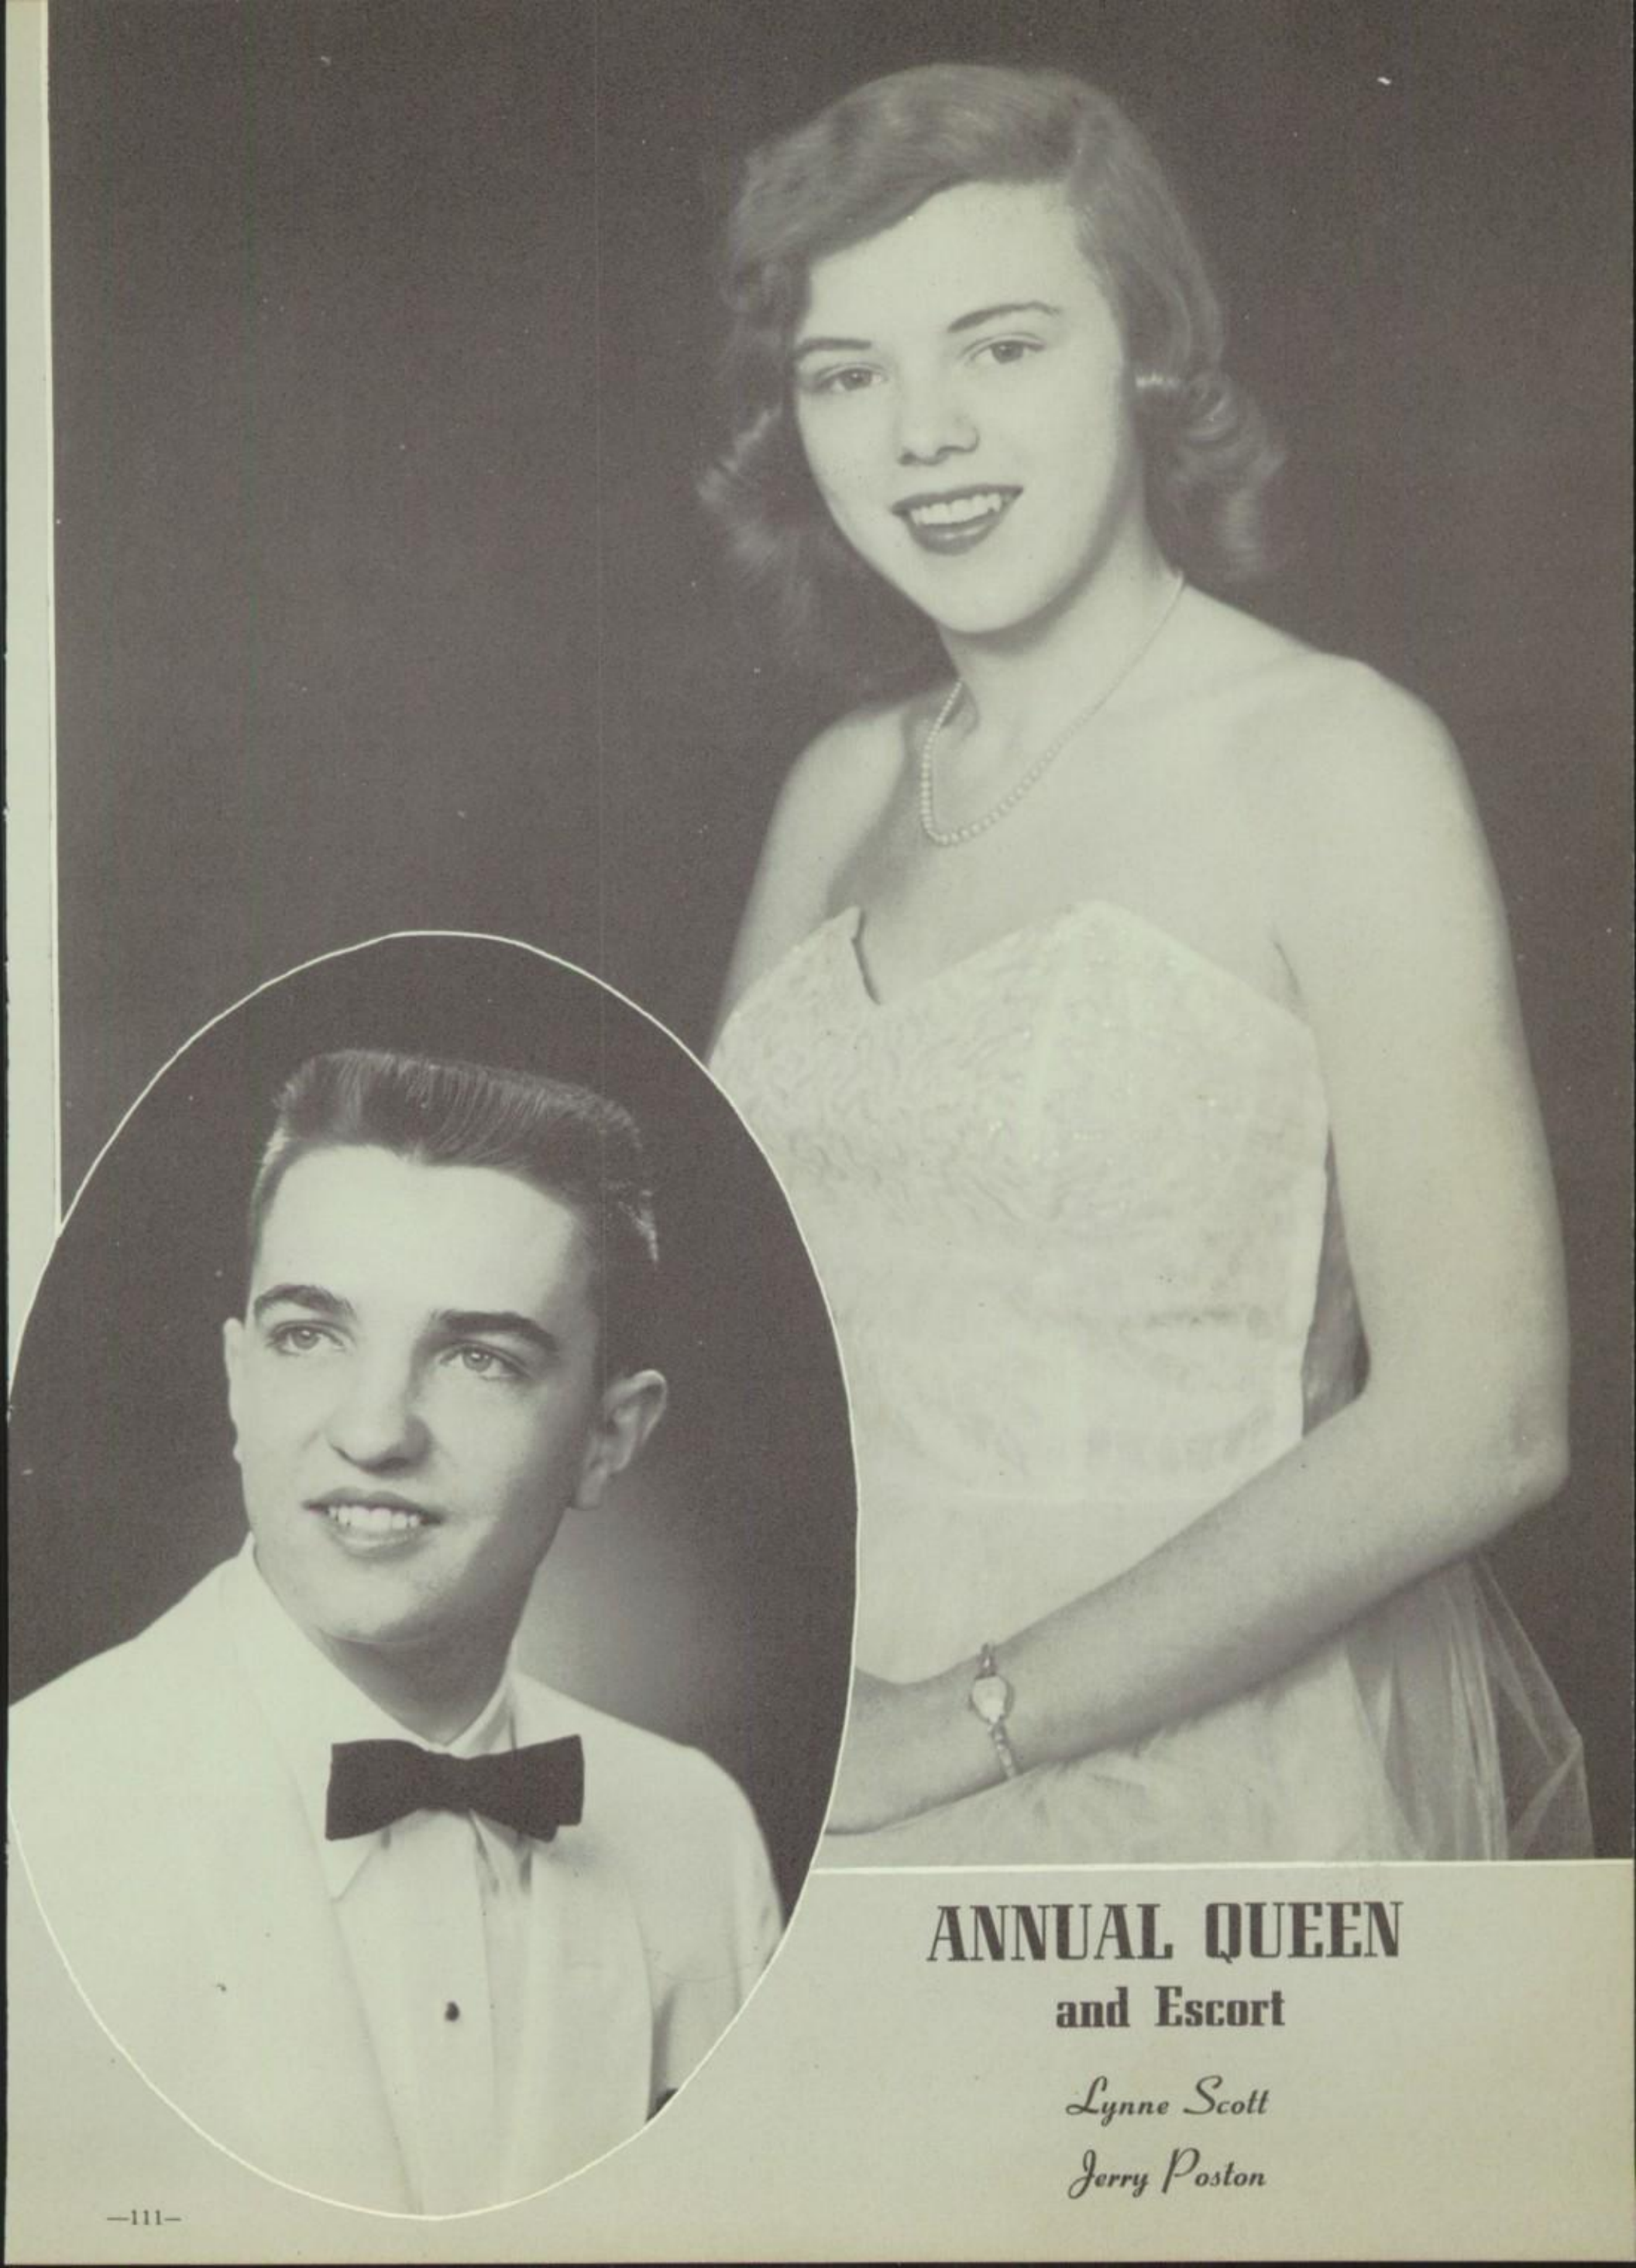

*In an assembly twice a year
They present a show to make the crowd cheer.
They act, they sing, they dance, and play;
They try to make yours a brighter day.*

*As for costumes, they furnish their own;
Over making the props they never groan.
They work for weeks 'til their play is through;
Then in all gaiety they present it to you.*

*They take this class 'cause they like to sing;
And all through the halls their voices ring;
With joyous feeling, their playlet is done,
And because they like music, it's really just fun.*

The chorus from "Showboat" was composed altogether from members of the class.

SENIOR HONORS

Stephen Carleton, Donna Eastwood, Phyllis Miller, and Wayne Kensley were chosen by vote of the Class of '55 to speak for the seniors at Commencement.

Selected by a faculty committee to attend Rotary Club meetings were Billy Don Rogers, Dorsey Douglas, George Brown, Stephen Carleton, Willis Warden, and Wayne Hensley. Mr. F. R. Born, a senior Rotarian, is pictured with these Junior Rotarians.

Helping to run Oklahoma City's government for a day were many teenagers of Oklahoma City. From Central, shown here, were, in the back row, Larry Wilder, assistant principal; Leroy Wallace, planning commission superintendent; Mary Jo Schuneman, member of the school board; Dick Wilkinson, chief of the fire department; George Brown, chief juvenile officer of the county; Howard Henderson, boys counselor; Gale Turner, county surveyor; Wayne Hensley, city auditor; and, in the front row, Stephen Carleton, vice-president of the school board; Katie Clevenger, committee of charities and corrections; Willis Warden, principal; Marie Holley, girls' counsellor; Sid Blott, state fire marshal; and Lillian Harrison, general counselor.

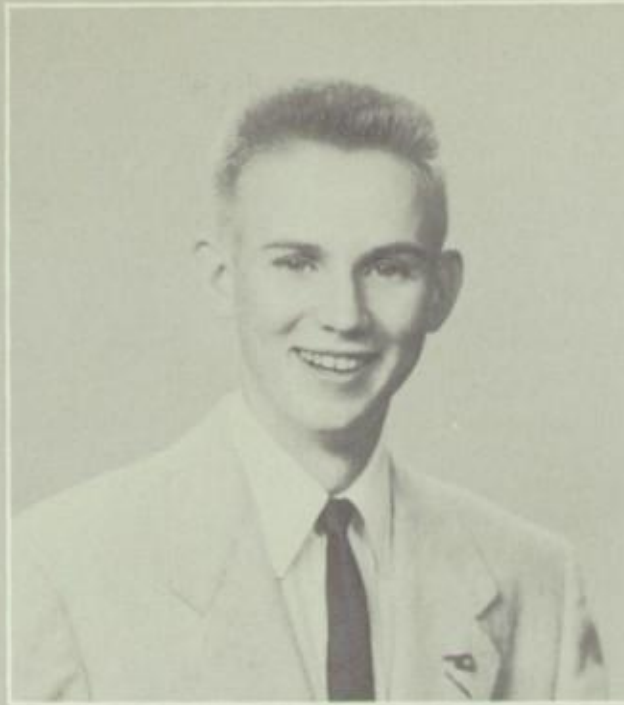

Senior honors, achieved for service to Central, were gained by vote of the winners' classmates or by selection of a faculty committee. City officers, Junior Rotarians, and career conference delegates share their honors with students from other city high schools. Instead of following the custom practiced by most schools, of importing name speakers for Commencement, Central seniors have, for years, preferred to choose four of their own fellow classmates to represent them in this activity. Consequently, the four winners of this honor have a unique distinction in the city.

Representing Central at the annual career conference held at the University of Oklahoma were Barbara Haines and Billy Don Rogers, who were selected by the counsellors.

LETZEISER AWARDS

Since the first presentation of the Letzeiser awards in 1914, at Central, they have continued to represent the highest standard of achievement possible to Central students. To be chosen, the winners, three boys and three girls, must have attended Central for six complete semesters, and must excel in scholarship, citizenship, character, leadership, contributions to the school, and participation in school activities.

*I saw the spires of Central
As I was passing by,
The gray spires of Central
Against a midnight sky.
My heart was filled with memories
And spirit that will not die.*

*The years go fast at Central,
The golden years, the gay;
And Alma Mater's eyes look down
On careless kids at play.
But graduation's rolled around;
We've put our books away.*

*We've left the peaceful building,
Athletics, teachers, all,
The well-kept lawns of Central,
For now our futures call.
We've left our youth behind us,
To see what next befall.*

*We've said goodbye to Central,
To sweethearts and to friends.
We've sung our Alma Mater,
But now school days must end.
God lead you down the long road
To success around the bend.*

SID BLOTT
